AIR FORCE ONE

Air Force One is a Boeing 747-200B aircraft that was extensively modified to meet presidential requirements. Accommodations include a conference/dinning room, the president's office, a stateroom and an office area for senior staff members. There's also a compartment outfitted with medical facility when required. The current Air Force One was first flown on Sept. 6, 1990, when it transported President George Bush to Kansas, Florida and back to Washington, D.C.

Produced under license from Boeing. Boeing, 747 and the associated distinctive logos, product marking and trade dress are trademarks of The Boeing Company.
